

Annemieke van der Werff

Chief human resources officer for the Americas, MUFG Union Bank, N.A.

Education: B.S., Human Resources and Labor Market Policies, Amsterdam/Haarlem Business School, The Netherlands; B.S., Organizational Development and Change Management, SIOO Institute, Utrecht, The Netherlands; Advanced Human Resources Executive Program, University of Michigan Business School.

Community involvement: Executive committee of the Wharton Financial Services Group, LINES Ballet Board Member, American Heart Association's Go Red for Women Movement, the Pride Alliance Employee Resource Group.

Proudest professional accomplishment: Spearheading the complete transformation of employment practices for MUFG Union Bank's integration across the Americas.

Best business mentor: My first boss in the U.S. at LaSalle ABNAMRO Bank in Chicago. He was honest, direct, asked questions and challenged my thinking. He still does and I still feel free to call on him.

How to help women in business advance: Implement a strong and intentional process to offer women more opportunities to advance in their careers.

Dream super power: I don't believe that superpowers are needed. If you have a vision, work diligently to make it a reality.

Surprising fact about you: Mindfulness is a part of my daily routine.

Ranjana Clark

Head of transaction banking for the Americas and Bay Area president, MUFG Union Bank, N.A.

Education: M.B.A., Finance, Duke University; M.B.A., Marketing, Indian Institute of Management.

Corporate boards: StanCorp Financial Group, Inc.

Proudest professional accomplishment: Building great teams.

Best business mentor: John Donahoe, chairman of the board at PayPal.

How to help women in business advance: Stay relevant.

Dream super power: Always being in the moment.

Surprising fact about you: I love hot yoga!

APRIL 29, 2016

SAN FRANCISCO BUSINESS TIMES INFLUENTIAL WOMEN 17

Marianne Bamonte

Managing director, global trust services division head, MUFG Union Bank, N.A.

Education: B.S., Education, St. Bonaventure University.

Community involvement: Huckleberry Youth Programs board member. Also, served as the Chair of the Union Bank Northern California Women's Leadership Group and as the Global Treasury Management representative for the Bank's Leadership Council for Inclusion.

Proudest professional accomplishment: Global Trust Services lines of business transformation.

Best business mentor: Barbara Broderick, my sister and the Maricopa County Chief of Probation.

How to help women in business advance: Finding opportunities to sponsor more women for leadership and senior management positions and providing young, high-potential women access to network with C-Suite business leaders.

What is your dream super power: The ability to see into the future and change outcomes.

Surprising fact about you: I am a middle child who has always been the negotiator and peacemaker.